LATEST INNOVATION

Limbraco two layer system

At the end of June 2016, Limbraco starts up their latest development in the field of mushroom growing and especially harvesting. Based on our already highly successful one layer system, we have extended this to a revolutionary two layer system. This means doubling your growing surface on the same plot area. Pickers can harvesting two layers at once with the "picking bridge". Full trays will be discharged on a two layer central conveyor system to your processing area.

This system is applicable as extension of a conventional 6-layer mushroom farm. For more information about this revolutionaire system, please do not hesitate and ask us for more information.
